

The NTA 2017 Conference will be held in Baltimore, MD
September 20-22, 2017
'91 Years and Still Thriving'

Theme: "Multigenerational and Interdisciplinary Approaches for STEM Success"

Call for Abstracts, Full Papers, and Oral and Poster Presentations:
NTA 2017 Technical Symposium

Critical Activities and Dates:

Activities	Start Date	Due Date
Call for Abstracts	February 27, 2017	April 15, 2017
Abstract Review and Notification of Acceptance	-	May 1, 2017
Paper Submissions	-	August 15, 2017
Review Paper: Accept and send Comments to Author Recommend as poster Reject paper and inform author	August 16, 2017	August 25, 2017
Revised paper submitted for conference publication	August 26, 2017	August 31, 2017

Revised papers submitted after the due date will only be presented at the conference, and will not be submitted for publication.

Abstracts, papers and revisions should be sent to Fred Oliver at NTA1925@verizon.net.

All abstract submissions must (1) contain the title of the paper, author's name(s), affiliation(s), author's full postal address(es) and e-mail; (2) contain no more than 200 words; and (3) indicate the category to which the abstract is most relevant (multiple categories acceptable). The categories are:

Architecture Information Science Computer Science Mathematics

Material Science Education Science Engineering Technology

Please indicate any special media requirements at the time of abstract submission. Abstracts and full papers should be prepared as PC compatible MS Word files in Font-Times New Roman, Size 12.

Presentations should be PowerPoint files. No PDF Files. Poster sizes should be 3'X5'. All files should be delivered on 'virus-free' USB drives. The presentation time is 12 minutes.

See the Guidelines for the Preparation of Abstracts and Full Papers on our site.

<http://www.ntaonline.org/2017conference.html>

The 'Preparation of Full Papers' is strongly encouraged for publication consideration.

All presenters must register for the NTA 2017 conference; for registration information, go to www.ntaonline.org.

